An Imaginative Report on How Le Duc Tho Saved The Padres

San Diego will be home for the Padres baseball team for at least another season. That's good news for baseball fans and good also for the image of the City.

The announcement was made at a hastily called press conference in the bowels of the Stadium's Sports Club at 4:30 p.m. Friday—hours before Christmas!

An announcement was read by the Padres redoubtable press secretary Irv Grossman. It was from Buzzie Bavasi who revealed the decision to stay. He named San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson as a key in the determination. The mayor will push ticket sales and overcome stadium advertising on the recently installed readerboard side panels.

Of owner-financier Arnholt Smith, who approved the stay, Bavasi said "As far as I'm concerned, this is the best Christmas present. Mr. Smith is the only Santa Claus in the baseball business."

Sports fans, being gullible at best, will accept these remarks as solutions to problems that truly existed.

But let us permit our thoughts to wander to some areas previously obscured in the recesses of the writer's imagination.

It started several years back when the NEW YORK TIMES, the WALL STREET JOURNAL, and LIFE magazine published articles about Arnholt Smith's widespread financial activities with his corporations in San Diego and elsewhere. In the stories John Alessio's name came up frequently as one of his associates.

While these articles proved only that Mr. Smith was financially active, there was an undertone that suggested anyone as financially active as Mr. Smith should be made to prove he was honest.

Later, members of the John Alessio family were indicted and convicted by the Internal Revenue Service. While John Alessio was associated with Arnholt Smith in some financial enterprises, it is a certainty that Smith didn't compute Alessio's tax return though some of the stories had his name so closely linked with Alessio's that the casual reader might think he did. Alessio went to jail.

Then came "negotiations" between Washington interests and Bavasi for the transfer of the Padres franchise.

All of the foregoing is factual and provable. And if the innuendos seem to have come from a sinister and imaginative mind, read on. The balance is equally sinister and twice as imaginative.

It starts with a book written by Ovid Demaris in which it was suggested that John Alessio became a millionaire by questionable dealing in Tijuana under the sponsorship of Smith. Democrats hailed the book. Smith was a staunch supporter of Richard M. Nixon and the Republican Party.

Then came the San Diego City Council Yellow Cab fiasco. Because some Democrats were involved, there seeped word that Republican retaliation was involved. One thought had it that the Central Intelligence Agency had sparked the investigation.

The Padres were young and hope was that the team would contend for a "near the top" spot—a desire warmly wrapped in the hearts of local baseball fans.

President Nixon, a year away from his campaign for reelection, listened to his advisors, who had figured out a way to get mentioned on the prime time television time of all—a grid game. Call the coach of the team most likely to win, give him a play that he had been using all year, and sit back and take the glory usually reserved for the winning coach and his quarterback.

Utilizing the presidential hotline, he called Miami and reached Coach Don Shula in the Miami Dolphins dressing room. The Dolphins were having a fine season, as usual. Shula furrowed his brow as fan Nixon revealed the play—a basic one often used in pre-season to get the team moving together.

But the White House staff set Mr. Nixon up as a sort of messianic Jimmy the Greek. What's more he became a VIP with the millions of teevee football game watchers, many of whom didn't know there had been a change in the White House since Eisenhower. This is not to imply stupidity on the part of fans. They are more involved with yards gained by Franco Harris and the batting average of Johnny Bench. Simple and understandable.

Having established himself as a VIP in sportsdom, it was natural that Congress alert him that the Capital was in danger of losing its baseball team—the Senators. He called in the CIA. That's right, CIA reported.

The peace negotiations had not been going well either and he needed something to save face with Congress. They had been bugging him regarding the war and more lately on losing the baseball team. Congress would not accept long, drawn-out negotiations again.

"Either stop 'em or get a replacement," he ordered CIA. "Make it top priority and top secret."

CIA was unable to stop the Washington move. The franchise went to Minneapolis. Following with precision the indomitable CIA slogan, "lose a few; win a few" CIA turned elsewhere. One of its thousands of agents recalled reading the WALL STREET JOURNAL's article regarding the Smith financial activity in San Diego. Armed with that and a white paper on the Bay of Pigs, CIA acted.

They contacted Mr. Smith and Mr. Bavasi and suggested that they think kindly toward a transfer of their franchise to Washington. There was a hint of in-depth investigations for those who thwarted the peace and tranquility of the capital of this, the epicenter of our democratic, capitalistic, free government.

"This isn't something simple like income taxes," CIA said inferring that treason might be the minimum charge.

Then to emphasize their determination, more indictments were handed down on John Alessio. These had been signed by U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell (Martha Mitchell's husband). By now Mitchell had been replaced by Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst. So to beef up the demand, Bowie Kuhn, league president, was also threatened. And full-scale negotiations were ordered started at once.

Supposedly secret, some information leaked out—unearthed by sports writers, who are, in fact, the best investigative reporters alive. When they tipped it, Bavasi, under restraint of the Justice Department, CIA, and United Nations, raised his eyebrows until his puppy-dog brown eyes seemed to cover his face and asked, innocently, "what negotiations?"

Denials came from the Washington Army Board and Bowie Kuhn. Some reporters believed the Army Board. The

Australians Enjoy Visit Under Lions Club Exchange Program

The Youth Exchange program for the San Diego-Imperial County Lions Clubs got underway a few weeks ago with the arrival of 11 youngsters, aged 15 to 19 from Australia.

Chairman of the youth exchange program is Bill Biggs, president of the Spring Valley Lions Club, which is hosting four of the teens.

Art Dutton, a member of the club, is hosting Wendy Mason, an 18-year old girl, and Mandy McLaughlin, a 16-year old girl. Biggs is hosting Glenn Hilliard, a 19-year old boy, and Robyn Wysel, an 18-year old girl.

Other youngsters are staying in El Centro, Del Mar, El Cajon, and Coronado under the program, which is the first time Australians have visited California under a Lions Club program.

Each individual family hosting the youngsters decides where to take their visitors, and outings so far have included a trip to the desert, where the youngsters enjoyed the Salton Sea and saw the Yuma Prison, a visit to Mexico, and treks to Sea World and Disneyland.

The students, who are on summer vacation from their homeland schools, are eager to learn about this country, and report that things are pretty much the same here as in Australia.

Glenn Hilliard, who is studying economics in his homeland, said that he enjoys listening to records, parties, and going to the beach where he enjoys sailing and body surfing.

Robyn Wysel, who recently graduated from "sixth form", which is the equivalent of high school, plans to train as a nurse when she returns. She enjoys music, the beach, and watching soap operas on television.

One of the startling differences between the two countries, she said, is color television, which has not yet been introduced in the "land down under".

Hilliard said that televisions there are mostly color sets, but that color transmissions will not begin for about two or three years. He enjoyed watching "Hogan's Heroes" in color for the first time when he arrived, and indicated that it was his favorite program at home as well.

He is a member of Leos Club in his hometown of Frankston, and was selected for the program through his affiliation with the club. Miss Wysel lives in Adamstown

County Support Sought For L.G. Youth Center

Concern over the closing of the Lemon Grove Youth Center on School lane, resulted in a local man, M. A. Feldman, of Acacia st. in Lemon Grove, to petition the County Board of Supervisors for a "continuing support program" to keep the Center going.

Feldman, who previous to his plea, had made a sizeable cash contribution for Center operation, according to Len Farness, a local businessman, reminded supervisors that the facility had been donated to the County by local interests after the land had been donated and the building constructed by local funds. Farness has been spokesman for the group which voluntarily underwrote its operation. The County collects $125 a month rent for the use of the facility. As a youth center, a director was paid approximately $300 a month. The funds had been generated by four or five interested persons. Often, the money came from their own pockets. Some funds came from this newspaper as part of a subscription project developed specifically for that purpose.

The Center's attendance was comprised of youngsters 12-15 years of age, mostly from homes where a parent was missing or where both were working. Usually, the alternative to going to the Center was the public streets. Open on Friday afternoons and Saturday all day, the Center attracted 75-125 youngsters each week. A number of conversions from dangerous drugs among the group was recorded. Most of the convertes continued to attend and influenced other users to stop. Jobs were found for several of the youngsters and all of them are staying in the work force.

Tuesday, according to the County News Service, Supervisors referred the matter to county staff for "investigation into county assistance."

Supervisor Henry Boney, to whom Feldman's letter was addressed, made his recommendation. A study will be made by an administrative officer, Charles Roberts.

M.V. Foreign Language Students Play 'Santa'

Christmas came early for the 468 children at Kimball Elementary School in National City this year.

Before Christmas, Santa and 30 helpers took over the school auditorium for the entire morning and passed out gifts and bags of candy to each of the youngsters. The helpers are foreign language students from Monte Vista High School who were helping Mrs. Nadia Davies in an annual project she started 11 years ago.

Mrs. Davies said she led her students in similar Christmas projects at every school she has taught at for nine of the past 11 years, missing only the past two years when she was new at Monte Vista.

Not only the students in her own classes are involved, but a total of 225 foreign language students at the high school have been involved in the project, collecting, labelling, and wrapping the more than 1,500 gifts they carried to the elementary school.

All the presents were new or in like condition, and most of them were wrapped. In addition to the gifts, the students have collected more than 80,000 pieces of candy, and each child received a "large bag" of candy.

"The bag was so big that some of the smaller children couldn't even carry it by themselves," Mrs. Davis said.

Teachers at Monte Vista have contributed money to the project, which Mrs. Davies used to buy balloons and helium, to "fill up the auditorium." The children came to the auditorium one class at a time, and each of the smaller children sat on Santa's lap and told him what he wanted. In most cases, he got it.

"We had practically everything among the gifts. Once a child says what he wants, the helpers set out to find the right present. Usually we have what is wanted, and if we do, we make sure the child gets it," Mrs. Davies said. Each child gets more than one gift.

She added that the scene is often very touching. "One little boy wanted a toy truck. We had one that was about three feet long. You should have seen the look on his face. You could tell that he had waited years in his short life for Santa to bring him one," she said.

Mrs. Davies said that the enthusiasm of the high school students is fantastic. "In fact, our only problem was deciding who got to go to the elementary school to pass out presents." Since only a few students could go, their names were selected by drawing slips out of a hat.

Mrs. Davies selects a different elementary school each year to be the recipient of the gifts, and reports that each year the principal tells her that it was the best thing that ever happened to his school. Very often the parents come to school on that day, to accompany their children to see Santa.

Dear Editor:

Is the United States broke?
The recent election didn't eliminate the "big spenders" in Congress, so here we go again on a spending spree. Billions for the United Nations debacle, billions for foreign aid, billions for welfare to blow in on thousands of unworthy welfare panhandlers, unwed mothers — you name it.

Well, let's ask these cookies where they are going to get the money. We don't have it, so these financial wizards will have to borrow it and cause more inflation and more taxes!

You don't believe it? Well, former Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, John Connolly, said on March 15, 1972, in New York City: "The United States is broke." He added that in 1971 the U. S. had more than five dollars of liabilities for each one dollar of reserve assets!

Let President Nixon and Congress hear from you — loud and clear.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley, President

Radio KFMB Scraps Longtime CBS Deal

KFMB Radio has terminated its long affiliation with the CBS Radio Network and joined ABC's Entertainment System, according to Station Manager Paul Palmer.

Under new management personnel, which has moved into KFMB during recent months, the station has changed its primary audience appeal to adults 18 to 49.

"CBS was fine when most of KFMB's audience was 45 and over; however ABC is far better suited to our new target audience and we are delighted with this new affiliation," stated Palmer.

Underwater Photos To Be On Display

The Casa de Oro Library will display through the month of January color prints of underwater photography by Chuck Allen, a photographer noted for his unusual shots of underwater life who has been honored internationally for his work.

Some of his prints are included in the new ocean world series by the well-known oceanographer Jacques Cousteau. Allen is a resident of Chula Vista and started his business as a hobby.

The Casa de Oro Library is located at 9628 Campo rd., phone 463-3236.

Among some Eastern peoples earnings have religious or ritualistic significance.

DISCUSSION — Ralph L. Jones, left, Lemon Grove minister of Jehovah's witnesses, will participate in the two-day training seminar of Jehovah's witnesses to be held at Russ Auditorium this Saturday and Sunday. Jones will lead a group discussion on the subject, "The One True Temple at which to Worship."

"The purpose of the two-day conference is to provide practical instruction on the application of Bible principles in the family, community and the Christian congregation," said Jones who serves as an Elder in the Lemon Grove congregation. This congregation recently moved to larger facilities on Jamacha Boulevard in Spring Valley. The new Kingdom Hall serves witnesses in the Spring Valley and Lemon Grove area.

Over 300 delegates from the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove area will attend the semi-annual meeting which is expected to reach an attendance of over 2,000 from San Diego and Imperial counties.

Highlight of the assembly will be the public talk, Sunday at 2 p.m., "Is This Life All There Is?" by F. D. Malaspina, District overseer of Jehovah's witnesses. Interested persons are invited to all sessions. Also in photo is Lowell R. Haislip, a convention official.

San Altos CAC Seeks Input From Parents

The San Altos School Citizens' Advisory Committee, a group of parents and residents of Lemon Grove, this week announced that it is seeking input from more parents of San Altos students.

The CAC is recruiting parents interested in the development of policies for the school, including those that directly affect the students.

Included among policies being considered by the CAC are sex education in schools, introduction of minority leaders, and the concept of abandoning report cards in favor of quarterly discussions between teachers and parents.

Hypnosis Programs Wednesday Nights

A special series aimed at exploring, in depth, the subject of "Hypnosis and Self-Hypnosis in Modern Society" will be presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services beginning January 10 in Sears Community Room, Parkway Plaza, El Cajon. Each program in the six-session series, will commence at 7 p.m.

Conducted by practicing professional hypnotist Jonathan Christian, the lecture-demonstration series will cover the history and development of hypnosis, hypnosis and related phenomena, techniques and applications of hypnosis, the nature of hypnosis, self-hypnosis and the future of hypnosis.

Each program in the series will last approximately 2½ hours and will feature audience participation in demonstrations of the various aspects of hypnosis, as well as questions and answer periods.

The public is invited to attend the Wednesday evening lecture-demonstration series that will explore the many facets of hypnosis and self-hypnosis.

Robert Fisher Heads Local Masons for 1973

1973 Masonic officers were installed earlier this month at a ceremony at Lemon Grove Lodge no. 736, 2590 Main st., Lemon Grove.

Installed were, front row — Archie Hutching, 3221 Bancroft dr., Spring Valley, secretary; John D. Gammon, 2549 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove, senior deacon; Verlyn McMahan, 2363 McKnight dr., Lemon Grove, senior warden; Robert B. Fisher, 7103 Windward st., San Diego, worshipful master of the lodge.

Diego, junior deacon; Marland A. Long, 3610 Fairway dr., La Mesa, treasurer.

More than 100 persons attended the installation. In attendance was the San Miguel Council, Knights of Columbus, represented by Grand Knight Ray Stengel.

CTA Lauds Signing Of Tax Shift Bill

Speaking on behalf of the 150,000 members of the California Teachers Association, Executive Director Jack D. Rees commended Gov. Ronald Reagan for signing a $1.2 billion school finance-tax relief measure.

Reagan affixed his signature to SB 90 in a ceremony at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

CTA Executive Director Rees and Vice President Wilbert V. Bolliger were co-participants in the ceremony with Gov. Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti because the Association was a co-sponsor of SB 90.

"This is truly a historic occasion," Rees declared, "marking a major breakthrough in achieving critically needed new state support for the public schools while providing meaningful property tax relief for homeowners and renters."

Rees noted that the new law moves substantially toward compliance with the State Supreme Court decision in the Serrano-Priest case, regarding unequal education because of over-reliance on the property tax.

'Sin Burning' Ceremony Is LM Church Program

A "sin-burning" will be part of the traditional New Year's Eve Watch Night service at 11 p.m. Sunday in La Mesa First Baptist Church, 8111 Orange ave.

In a consecration rite, conducted by the Rev. John W. Bugar, the pastor, those attending will be asked to write on slips of paper the sins for which they wish God's forgiveness. Folded and unopened, the missives will be collected and burned at the altar.

The ceremony is based on Isaiah 6:6, describing how a seraphim touched the lips of the prophet Isaiah with a hot coal from the Jerusalem temple altar, cleansing him of sin so he might speak for God.

At 10 p.m., in the La Mesa church, youth and music director James P. Donnellson will present a New Year's Eve music program. Vocal soloists will be Myrna Sarff, Jennifer Stone, Barbara McCrory and Jim Wieboldt. Carlton Garrow will play a harmonica solo.

Learn Spanish The Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Ya" is an amazingly versatile word in Spanish. It can be used to mean "already," "now," or "at once." It is most frequently used to start a sentence as seen in "Ya esta preparada la comida." (The food is already prepared.) or "Ya el ha ganado." (He has already won.)

"Ya" is used synonymously with "ahora" to mean "now." This permits one to say either "Es muy caro ya." or "Es muy caro ahora." to express "It is very expensive now." Other sentences using "ya" to mean "now" are "Ya vamos." (Let's go now.) and "Ya no puedo." (I can't now.)

"Ya no" is translated to "no longer." This is frequently used to start a sentence and produce a strong negative effect as in "Ya no tengo dinero." (I no longer have money.) and "Ya no es posible." (It is no longer possible.)

"Ya pronto" may be used to express "any moment now" or "presently." This appears in phrases like "Ya pronto viene mi amigo." (At any moment now my friend will come.) and "Vamos a regresar a la casa ya pronto." (We are going to return home presently.)

"Ya ya" has been used to mean "stop" or "of course."

David Barkdoll
Navy Ensign David O. Barkdoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Barkdoll of 9160 Shirley dr., Spring Valley, has become a member of the Navy's "Flatop Fraternity."

Barkdoll is in flight training at the Naval Air Force Station Saufley Field, Pensacola, Fla., and has made six landings and take-offs from the flight deck of the training aircraft carrier USS Lexington in the Gulf of Mexico.

His accomplishment represents the completion of months of rigorous practice on an inland airfield the size of a carrier's flight deck, and qualifies him to move on to more complicated flight instruction aboard propeller-driven aircraft.

A 1966 graduate of Grossmont High School, he graduated from the University of California at Davis, in 1971.

Although herons eat mainly fish, they have a varied diet.

Five Year Tour In Philippines Ends For Spring Valley Man

Spring Valley resident Maurice "Bernie" Becker and family, of 3467 Glen dr., Spring Valley, are home concluding a five year Navy civil service tour in the Philippines at Manila.

He formerly served with the San Diego Navy Public Works Center before going to the Philippines. He's now back in his old job with the PWC Comptroller and serving as head of the Cost Division.

In Manila, Becker first served as Accounting Officer with Officer in Charge of Construction, Southwest Pacific. In 1970 he was promoted to Comptroller-Administrative Officer. He called his tour in the Philippines, "the most fantastic and rewarding five years I have ever spent." He called it challenging duty.

"We lived in the local community made up of people from all nationalities. Living in a cosmopolitan center such as Manila we met and associated with people from many countries including Australia, New Zealand, England, and Spain as well as Philippine citizens," Becker commented.

He said son David was one of the most popular DJs on the island and had his own radio show associated with Radio Station DZRI in Manila, and Armed Forces Radio, Sangley Point. Daughter Karen was a member of the Ford Racing Team and also took part in school musicals.

Becker called overseas service excellent and something he would recommend to all interested individuals. He called an interesting point of his Philippine tour opportunities to visit Hong Kong, Taiwan, Thailand, Japan and other areas.

He outlined some of the usual highlights of his job in Manila.

In Manila Comptroller job his primary mission was involved with military construction. He came into contact with representatives serving many departments of the U. S. Government during his overseas tour.

As the Administrative Officer his responsibilities were many and varied. An interesting highlight was described as running an airline involving 10 aircraft. Air travel was used for Officer in Charge of Construction personnel. Other personnel also made use of the air travel including those serving at Clark Air Force Base, the American Embassy, Subic Bay activities and other military commands.

Other responsibilities of the Administrative Officer included operation of the Department of Defense in-lease housing program covering the lease of 90 units of family housing, a program of sub-leasing office space to other Department of Defense activities under a master lease administered by the Officer in Charge of Construction, in addition to operation of a telephone system and a mobile radio network.

HOME FROM MANILA — Spring Valley resident Maurice "Bernie" Becker of 3467 Glen dr., Spring Valley, has returned home concluding a five year Navy civil service tour in the Philippines at Manila. He now serves in the Comptroller Office as head of the Cost Div., with the San Diego Navy Public Works Center.

Davis Canyon Campout Set By Explorers

Explorer Post No. 168, sponsored by Saint John of the Cross Church in Lemon Grove, has scheduled its monthly camping trip for this weekend at Davis Canyon in Imperial County.

Davis Canyon, located near the Mexican border south of Ocotillo, is a former artillery range. Included in the weekend's activities will be nature hikes into the surrounding mountains.

About 15 Explorers, led by post advisor Vic Hall, will make the trip, leaving from the post hut at St. John's Saturday morning at 7 a.m. by car for the journey, and will return Sunday afternoon.

On the trip back, the post will visit the Laguna Mountains, where there is still a few inches of snow.

Post president Lowell Brown, Jr., announced at Tuesday night's meeting that there are currently a few openings for membership in the post. High school-aged boys interested in hiking, camping, fishing, and ecology may contact Brown at 460-9924 or post vice president Gene Sprofera at 463-1831, or may sit in on any Tuesday night meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the explorer hut at St. John's.

The next meeting of the post will be January 2, when members will discuss plans for a Colorado River trip which will include a canoe trip down the river.

Gayle Velie, Dennis Smith Wedding Set

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Velie, of Morgan Hill, California, announced the engagement of their daughter, Gayle, to Dennis D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Smith, of 7881 Mt. Vernon st., Lemon Grove.

The bride-to-be is currently studying for her Masters Degree at San Jose State College and will graduate in June. Smith graduated from Mt. Miguel High School and attended Grossmont College before joining the Lathrop Construction Company in Emeryville, California.

Smith, who was born and reared locally, lived in this area until recently when he left to join the construction firm in Oakland. His parents are longtime residents of Lemon Grove, having lived here for 34 years.

The couple will take their vows in June and will reside in the Oakland area.

Horseman's Group To Make Awards

The local chapter of the California Professional Horseman's Assn. will present awards at its 17th Annual Dinner Jan. 20, at Hotel del Coronado.

It is the highlight of the S.D. County Horse Show Exhibitors at which 230 persons will receive silver trophies.

Awards will be made in 76 classes and there will be 7 memorial awards. More than 300 persons attended last year's event.

Dinner will be at 7:30 in the main ballroom — preceded by a cocktail hour. The affair is open to the public. Reservations by telephone may be made at 479-7666.

The whippoorwill's feathers are brown, black and gray.

Looking Back Over 1972

Netzley's Retirement Highlight Of Eventful Year For Lemon Grove

The past year has been one of progress mixed with some frustrations for the Lemon Grove community, as the town's planning association turned in an eventful year, the Lemon Grove School District negotiated with developers for school facilities, and School District Superintendent Byron Netzley retired.

In January, news included stories on a re-districting by the County Board of Supervisors, goal formulation by the planning association, and the continuing struggle between the school district and the developers of the proposed Imperial-80 subdivision.

Redistrict Invalid

Involving the county's re-districting by the board of supervisors, which was done in October of 1971, Superior Court Judge Robert O. Stanforth declared the re-districting invalid and ordered supervisors to re-district the county with different guidelines. Supervisors then decided to continue with the October plan until an appeal was heard by a higher court.

The planning association's subcommittees formulated tentative goals for the community, based on a proposed population of 30,000 residents by 1990. Included in the goals were more recreational land, as well as the formation of a park district.

The school board and the Pacific Bay Development Company, developers of Imperial-80, were unable to reach an agreement which would call for the developers to provide for school facilities which would be needed if the subdivision were constructed.

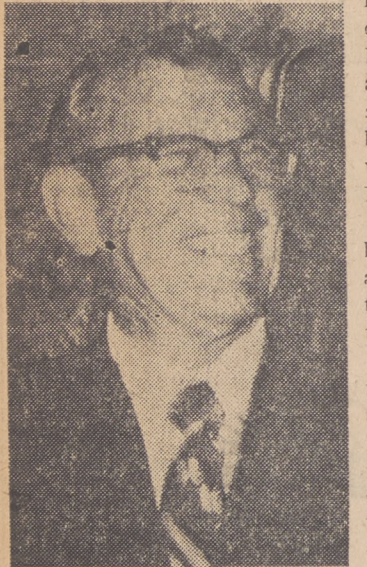

Chamber Elects Officers

February's news highlights included election of new officers for the chamber of commerce, a rejection by the Supreme Court on the county re-districting problem, Byron Netzley submitting his resignation to the school board, and the San Diego City Council's rejection of an Imperial-80 proposal.

Officers elected by the chamber of commerce were Mike Carlen, president, Don Minick, vice president, Gary Sweet, secretary, and Al Woods, treasurer.

After several delays by the S.D. city council, council members voted to send back a proposal by the Imperial-80 developers to the planning commission for a review of density and other requirements. The proposal was for the construction on that portion of the project which fell outside the school district. Opponents of the plan viewed it as a "foot-in-the-door" tactic.

The Supreme Court, on considering a question on the county re-districting plan, declined to hear the case and sent it back to the local court of appeals.

Byron Netzley

After 30 years with the Lemon Grove School District, Byron Netzley announced his retirement. Trustees reluctantly accepted the resignation, which came into effect in July, and set about the task of screening candidates for the position.

Sutton Gets Post

March was an eventful month for the community, as Bob Sutton was named to replace Netzley as superintendent of the school district, applications opened for the Miss Lemon Grove Contest, historic St. Philip's Episcopal Church was destroyed by fire, and the planning association presented preliminary goals to the community.

Dr. Robert Sutton, who has served with the Lemon Grove School District since 1951, was selected to replace Byron Netzley as superintendent of the school district. Trustees announced that Sutton's selection was unanimous.

The first two applicants for the Miss Lemon Grove beauty pageant were Cheryl Bolieu and Madelyn Stepek.

One of San Diego's oldest churches went up in smoke when a 12-year-old youth who was playing with candles accidentally set off an inferno that caused over $100,000 damage. Rector Kenneth Johnson expressed hopes that the 85-year old structure could be rebuilt.

All but two of the planning association's subcommittees prepared tentative goals for presentation for the community at a general meeting in March, but controversy stalked that meeting when local planners criticized the county for making changes in the goals prior to the meeting.

Arnaz in OTD Parade

In April, the Miss Lemon Grove contest was held, the school district took a stand in opposition to a unification proposal, and Desi Arnaz agreed to be grand marshal in the town's annual Old Time Days Parade.

George Tonner, OTD coordinator, announced that Arnaz would be the grand marshal of the parade, with retiring school superintendent Byron Netzley to serve as honorary marshal.

The school district board voted to oppose a unification plan which would have combined the Lemon Grove district with La Mesa-Spring Valley district.

Barbara Kotnik was selected from ten contestants to reign as Miss Lemon Grove and represent the community in the Fairest of the Fair beauty pageant. Cheryl Bolieu was named runner up, and in third place was Elizabeth Jessup.

Netzley Dinner Held

In May, the town's traditional Old Time Days celebrations were held, topped off by what many observers considered the best parade ever, a dinner was held in honor of Byron Netzley, and the Lemon Grove Planning Association requested the board of supervisors to begin action on the formation of a county service area to provide funds for a park.

Outstanding floats in the OTD parade included those entered by Lemon Grove Junior High, the Lion's Club, and the U. S. Navy Assault Craft mockup. The Navy's float earned the Chamber of Commerce Trophy.

Silverthorn Wins Baja

In June, James Justeson was named assistant superintendent of the school district, a local off-road racing enthusiast won the Baja 500, the school district approved its budget, and rate increases were forecast for the Helix Irrigation District.

Dr. James Justeson, who had come to the school district a year before, was elevated to the post of assistant superintendent.

Billy Silverthorn, service manager at Lemon Grove Honda, took first place on a 250cc Honda in the Baja 500 off-road race, despite a slight problem with an ignition switch, which had to be replaced midway through the rugged race.

Faced with rising water costs and depleting reserves, the board of directors of the Helix Irrigation District began studying ways to meet budget obligations. The board later adopted rate changes which shifted the burden to large water users.

The school district approved a budget of just over $4 million, calling for a tax rate increase of about ten cents.

In other June news, local resident Dale Willey was elected commander of the VFW nationally, Mt. Miguel High School principal Mel Grant resigned, and Dr. Robert Peto, vice principal at the school, was named to replace him.

Park Site Change

In July, Byron Netzley left his post as school superintendent, the Helix Irrigation District adopted a $5.1 million budget, the Community Betterment Committee announced plans to seek a county service area to fund landscaping project maintenance in conjunction with scheduled Broadway improvements, and the planning association considered the possibility of seeking a park site change.

The proposed service area to provide landscaping maintenance money for the Broadway improvements was determined to be the answer to the "ugly Broadway" problem. A petition circulated by Bob Russell the prior year had failed to attain enough signatures to result in extensive Broadway improvements, although less glamorous improvements were to be made. The county agreed to go ahead with additional landscaping at no cost to the community if a CSA would be formed to provide maintenance costs.

A controversial change in plans was considered by the planning association when a switch in proposed park sites was suggested. The plan was to switch from a proposed 6-acre site to a site of about 20 acres. The larger site, however, was located inside the San Diego City Limits and the proposal drew fire from some local residents. Later, it was determined that the larger site could not qualify for HUD funding, so the plan reverted back to the smaller site.

Goals Formulated

In August, the planning association was in the spotlight as goal formulation continued and the park site switch plan was abandoned.

Temper flared between the planners and the county again, as local planners criticized the county for "hogging down" the process for goal formulation and for inaction on a voter eligibility question.

The San Diego park site plan was scrapped when it was learned that HUD funds were available only for a smaller site in Lemon Grove.

Back to School

In September, the school district was in the limelight, as youngsters returned to the classrooms, and a policy for dealing with subdivisions was approved.

The subdivision policy calls for financial or other aid to be made to the district when a development would increase enrollment in the district to the point that not enough school facilities would be available.

In other September news, a proposed $10 million expansion for Grossmont Hospital gained approval from the Comprehensive Health Planning Association, and the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club held its annual Kids Day celebrations.

Subdivision OK Denied

In October, Henry Boney visited the local chamber of commerce and explained his objections to CPO, the controversial organization which has been called a third level of government, meetings were held by an advisory group to the Grossmont High School District, the Kiwanis Club's annual Apple Days were held, and the school district turned down their approval of a proposed subdivision.

The citizen's advisory committee to the Grossmont High School District held meetings to determine the fate of Valhalla High School. In October meetings, the group seemed ready to suggest a bond issue to finance the proposed school. It was later decided to scrap the bond issue and build the school through a special tax levy.

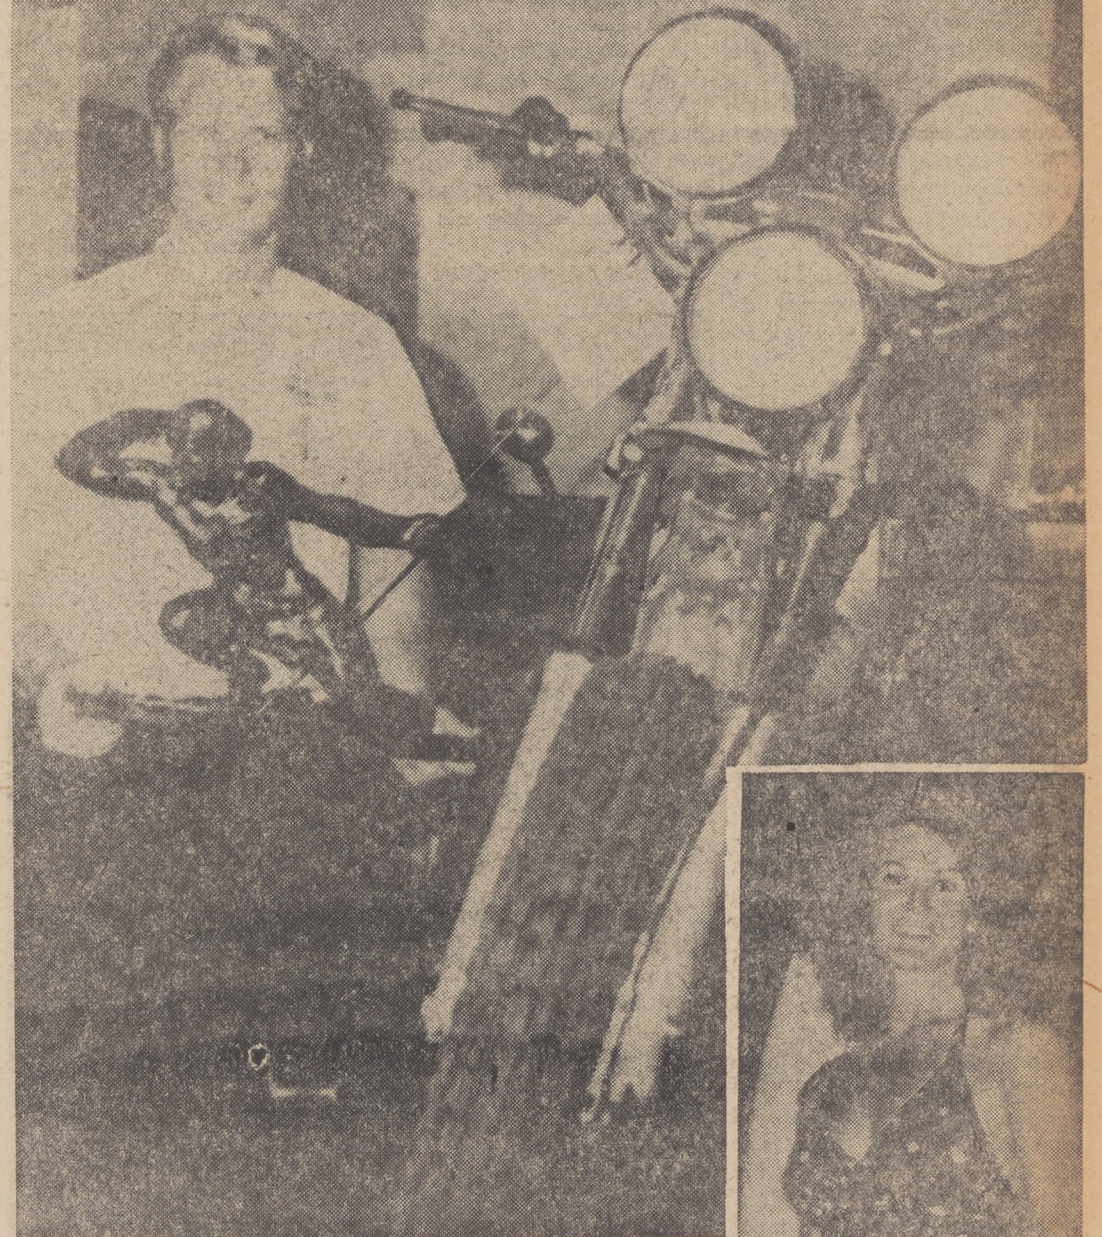

The Lemon Grove School District turned down a request from developers of a proposed subdivision for approval of the plan, citing the fact that facilities were not available to meet the needs of students coming from the development.

Approval was later given when developers agreed to construct a foot-entrance to the development which would enable youngsters to walk to school instead of riding a bus.

In November, the high school district decided to go ahead with plans to finance the proposed Valhalla High School through a special tax levy, thereby rejecting a bond issue.

In December, the Local Agency Formation Commission began hearings on the proposed service area which would raise funds for construction and operation of a six-acre park in Lemon Grove. The possibility of combining classrooms, and a policy for dealing with subdivisions was also considered.

Spring Valley Looks Back

Drownings, New Park Mark Tragic But Progressive 1972 For Valley

A bank robbery and two drownings were included in the headlines in 1972, for Spring Valley, marking a tragic but progressive year. Good news included work by the Valle de Oro Planning Association and progress on the new Spring Valley Park.

The year started out with the County Board of Supervisors being cited for violating new boundaries, which included part of Spring Valley.

Mrs. Harriet Allen, Spring Valley civic worker, was named as the representative on the Regional Goals program. And a 17-year old youth was arrested on a "pot" charge.

Mid-Jan. and a Casa de Oro liquor store was robbed. Then a S.V. man was to be sentenced on a rape charge. Later a civil complaint was filed against a La Presa area land developer. And the S.V. Rotary Club invited their wives as guests at a meeting.

Toward the end of the month three S.V. juveniles were arrested on burglary charges. And a San Diego youth was nabbed in La Presa on a drug charge. Then the S.V. theatre group planned auditions.

In February, the Casa de Oro Business Association was seeking an official council.

Then several persons were arrested on a variety of charges. And a meeting was planned by the S.V. Planners. Later "Miss Spring Valley" and "Miss La Mesa" met in a good will policy. And a fire did considerable damage to the Golden Bowl bowling lanes.

Mid-Feb. and the new "U-S-V" store was held up. And the latter part of June And Future Farmers display Gregory Barker was installed as president of the S.V. Rotary Club.

Came July and the Helix Water District gave a nod to a $6.1 million budget. Then the was reduced. And the S.V. second campus of Grossmont College was reported on schedule. And bids were received for improvement of Highway 94. Later landscaping began at Sweetwater Village.

Mid-July and Otay Water Dist. reported water rates up about 7 1/2 per cent. And the S.V. park neared a reality. Then there was another drowning in Hansen's Pond.

Early August and more arrests on "pot" charges. And a S.V. fireman was burned badly in a structure fire. Then the Helix Irrigation Dist. reduced its budget. And two persons escaped after robbery of a S.V. photo booth.

Toward mid-Aug. "Alice In Wonderland" was presented by the S.V. Theatre group. La Mesa-Spring Valley School Dist. cut its rate. And a S.V. woman was dead of stab wounds. Then fire season was stressed, due to the dry terrain. And the college board okayed the second campus site.

Toward the latter part of Aug. there was another drowning victim in Hansen's Pond. Then the S.V. Park plans hit a financial snag.

Late in Aug. and drugs were still a top problem. And a burglar from La Mesa was arrested.

accidents. And the Otay Water District suggested a rate hike. Then area persons won awards as outstanding students at Grossmont College.

Then the Valle de Oro program got official approval. And a kidnapping charge. Then a S.V. robbery attempt failed.

Came Sept. and a S.V. man was named "Employee of the Month" by the Navy Public Works Center. And staff changes were noted at Kempton Street School. And Kiwanis Club planned "Kids Day."

Then the B and W Hardware Supply was robbed. And the LM-SV School Dist. said it would provide free and reduced lunch prices for needy children. And Monte Vista High School opened its production season.

Came Oct. and Craig Howry was installed as president of the S.V. Kiwanis Club. And the United States Elevator Co. of S.V. was given special recognition. Then Boy Scout Troop 325 gave out awards.

Mid-Oct. and two LM-SV School principals were transferred. And Grossmont College was owner of the second campus site. And LM-SV School teachers received a 3.7 percent pay hike. Then a S.V. man was appointed director of United Community Services. And a S.V. couple was awarded high honors for salesmanship in a large corporation.

Later in the month the Bank of America at Sweetwater and Jamacha was robbed of $9,000 (the bandits later captured). And still the drug problem was high. And then a S.V. youth was killed in a head-on auto accident.

Early Nov. and heavy winds caused power failure in Casa de Oro. And "Miss Spring Valley" (Francyne Slagle) reported she had been on the TV show, "The Dating Game."

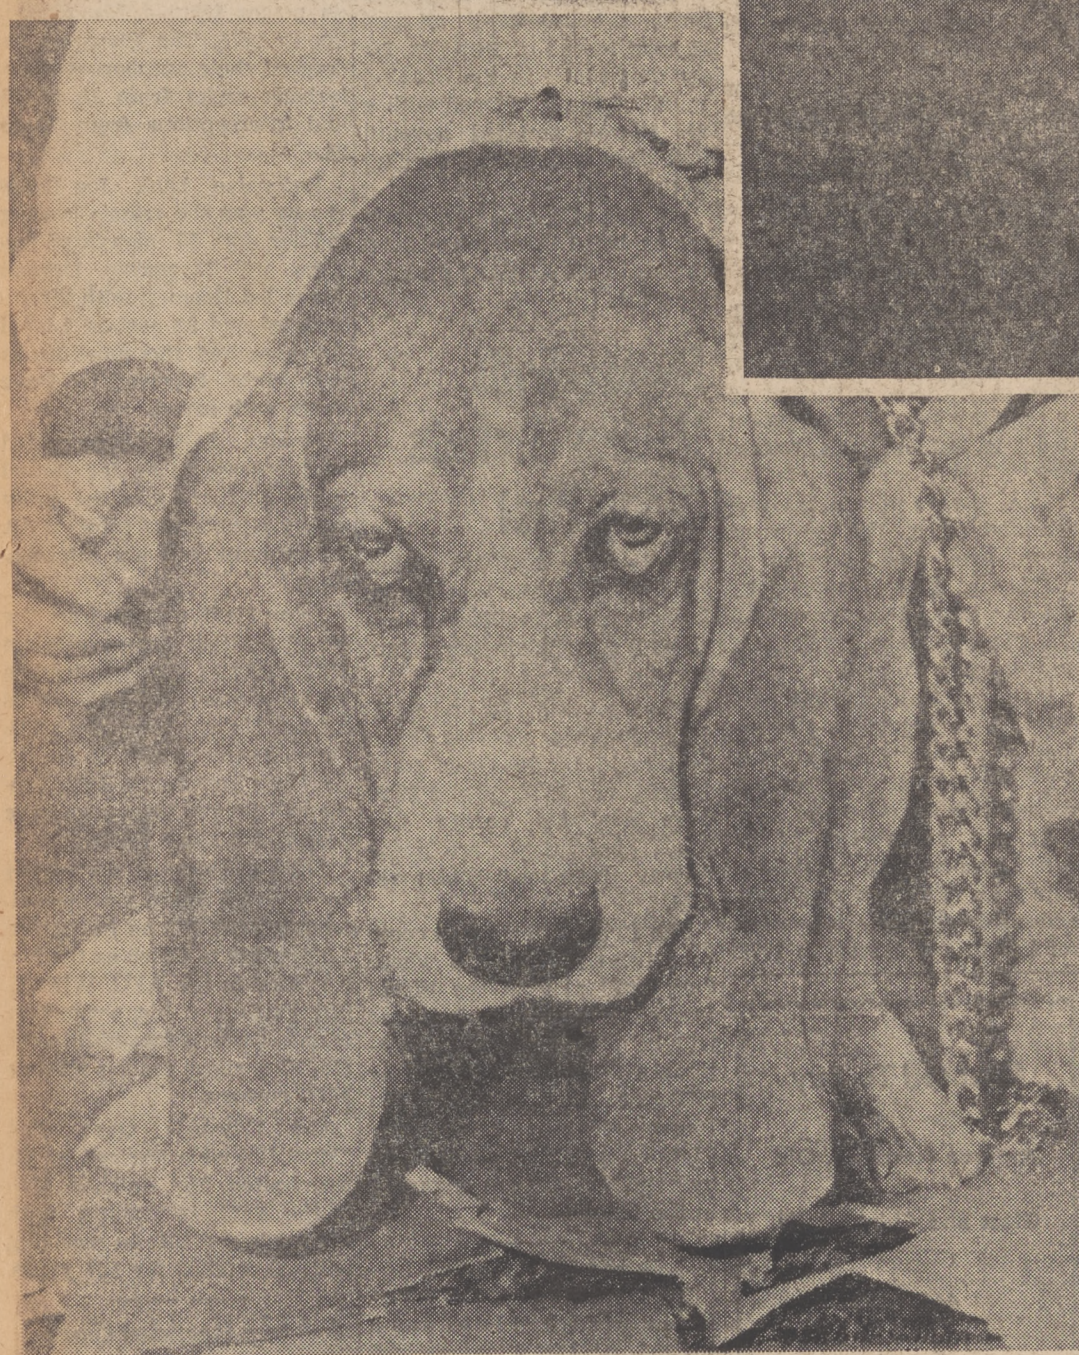

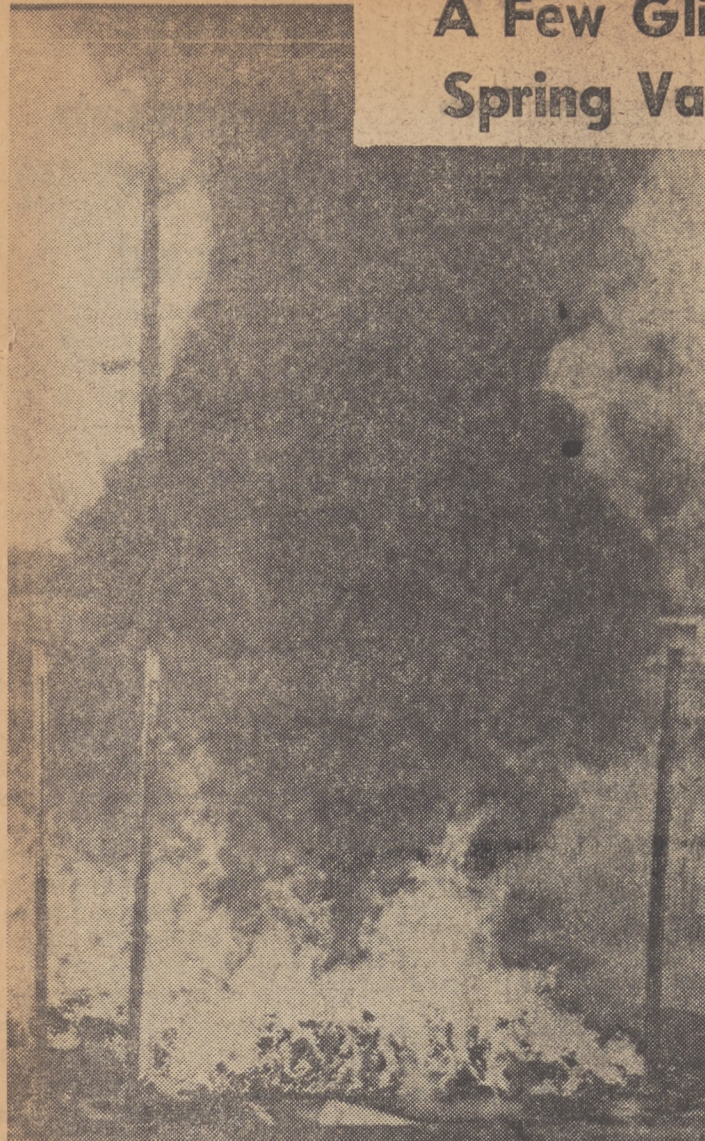

More weather and heavy rainfall reported. Local photo booth holdup.

Mid-Nov. and three held in a S.V. holdup of the Bank of America. Then Monte Vista High hosted "Amigos" from Mexico. And the school was hopeful of obtaining a swimming pool. Then in late Nov. funds were granted for a new animal shelter. And a man was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Early Dec. and local churches were preparing for Christmas, with working groups, children and adult parties and devotions.

The drug problem was still foremost in the news. And a S.V. youth was killed in a one-car accident on Highway 94. Several "Dear Santa Claus" letters came on for publication. And two S.V. dancers were chosen for the "Nutcracker" at San Diego Civic Theatre.

Mid-Dec. and area fireman participated in a burning program at Jamacha rd. and Sweetwater, whereby several old buildings were destroyed to make way for a new shopping center. And about the same time a S.V. man was named manager of the new La Jolla Federal Savings branch, to be located at Campo rd. and Kenwood dr.

Registration Opens For Hoop Tournament

Boys, 18 and under, may sign-up this month for the January basketball league at Colina Del Sol Park and Recreation Center.

Basketball workouts will be held throughout December in preparation for league play in January.

Teams will have three age divisions; 13 and under, 15 and under, and 18 and under. The ages are determined as of March 10, 1973.

Qs In Cellar Battle With Nets Saturday

The Conquistadors host the New York Nets Friday night at Peterson Gym, starting at 7:30 and take on Utah Saturday — after which they leave home for a week.

It was the Qs that started the Nets on their downward trek in a game played here Nov. 26. It was probably the last good game played by the Qs. And the Nets occupy the cellar of the Eastern Division. The Qs, are also cellar dwellers but the winner of Friday's game might be the one to pull loose from the undertow. Utah, beginning to show the life and style that was predicted at the season's beginning, will be here Saturday. Utah is battling Indiana for league leadership and it promises to be a good game.

Alex Groza, Qs general manager, has been poring over waiver lists but finds nothing that would give Coach K. C. Jones the help he needs. "Those on the waiver would only give us a lateral move," Groza said. "We need more consistency, rebound help and leadership."

Apparently, these items were not on Santa's list this year.

J. R. O'Connor Re-Elected As Presiding Judge

It was announced last week that the Judges of the Municipal Court, at their annual meeting December 8, unanimously elected the Honorable J. Robert O'Connor to be Presiding Judge of the Court for the year 1973. Judge O'Connor also served in this capacity in 1972.

Judge O'Connor is a native son of California, having been born and raised in Pasadena. He attended San Diego State College and Balboa Law School.

He served for 12 years in the San Diego Police Department, and upon passing the State Bar of California, practiced law in San Diego until 1965.

La Mesa Sweeps Two Team Titles In Junior High Cross Country Meet

Over 120 runners from 20 different schools took part in the San Diego Cross Country Championships recently at Helix High School. The meet was for runners in seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

In the ninth grade race, Bonita Vista Junior High took the team title as well as the individual title, which was copied by Steve Zampardo. The team also had three other runners in the top ten and ended with a team score of 33 points.

Second place went to Helix High School with 55 points, while Mar Vista Junior High claimed third with 90 points. Others schools and their point totals were: Granite Hills High, 111; Mt. Miguel High, 135; Grossmont High, 144; El Cajon High, 146; Marston Jr. High, 163; and Montgomery Jr. High, 175. Only the top three schools ran a full slate of runners.

In the eighth grade race, La Presa's Manuel Sandoval easily won the race, but La Mesa took the team title with 69 points, just four points better than second place Santee at 73 points. Third place went to Marston with 80 points.

Other teams and their scores were: Marston, 113; Greenfield, 115; Spring Valley, 128; Santee, 132; Parkway, 143; Bell, 148; Bonita Vista, 155; La Presa, 173; Paradise Hills, 176; and El Cajon, 177.

Next stop on the cross country tour for the top runners will be the Southern California Championship January 20 at Pico Rivera.

The top eight runners from each grade level will compete in that meet.

Exemption Given Tommy Jacobs In AWSDO Tournament

Southern California Section Professional Golfers' Association champion Tommy Jacobs of La Costa Country Club heads a list of five club professionals who will be given exemptions from qualifying to compete in the sixth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament Feb. 15-18 at Torrey Pines.

Others on the list submitted by the Southern California Section PGA to AWSDO tournament executive Norrie West were Jimmy Powell, Via Verde Country Club, San Dimas; Jim Allen, Soule Park Golf Course, Ojai; Jimmy Thompson, Los Coyotes Country Club, Buena Park; and Jack Steingraber, Pomona National Golf Course, Walnut.

Jacobs, a member of the 1965 Ryder Cup team, won four tour events after turning pro in 1956 and going on the tour in 1957.

Powell, who like Allen, Thompson and Steingraber qualified for the exemptions in a tournament held on Sept. 18 at Bel Air Country Club, still holds the AWSDO all-time scoring record of 18 holes. He set the mark in the opening round of the 1968 Open with a 64. Powell finished seventh that year with a 278, earning $5,700.

All five of the exempt group are expected to submit official entries to the AWSDO through the PGA.

Russia-Gulls Hockey Tickets Going Fast

Tickets are available — but going fast, for the Russian vs. Gulls game at the Sports Arena at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 3.

Most of the $5 and $4.50 seats are gone, reported Bruce Binkowski, of the Gulls staff. Tickets at $3.50, $3 and $2.50 were available earlier this week, but they are going "pretty fast, too," Binkowski said.

The Russian team will come here from Minneapolis where they will play in the World Hockey tournament. The game will be played under international rules which are slightly different from the Western Hockey League regulations. Fights are held at a minimum by expelling players engaging in the fracas.

Chargers Gate Averages 47,462 For Record

Despite finishing last in the AFC West with a record of 4-9-1, the San Diego Chargers set attendance records in 1972.

The Chargers attracted an average of 52,291 for seven NFL games at San Diego Stadium, where the listed capacity investigation was underway 47,462 for four pre-season home games. Officially, a record 37,144 season tickets were purchased.

The Chargers also set a road attendance record with a seven-game average of 61,889 and a total attendance record for 14 league games and six pre-season games of 1,101,519.

In team statistics, San Diego finished No. 6 in offense in the AFC and No. 5 in defense. On offense, the Chargers were No. 5 in passing and No. 7 in rushing; on defense, they were No. 3 against the rush and No. 9 against the pass.

Improvement in defense was marked as the team rose seven places from a No. 12 finish in 1971. The Chargers increased their number of quarterback sacks from 19 to 26 and interceptions from 22 to 24.

Defensive back Joe Beauchamp was the team's leading tackler with 57 unassisted tackles and 33 assists. Deacon Jones led linemen with 39 unassisted and 33 assists. Lionel Aldridge had the most sacks with eight, followed by Dave Costa with seven.

Bryant Salter intercepted seven passes to tie for second in the AFC and give the lanky safety a two-year total of 13. Beauchamp had six interceptions.

John Hadl moved into the No. 6 position among all-time NFL passing yardage leaders by accounting for 2,449 yards for an 11-year total of 26,938. Only Johnny Unitas, Y. A. Tittle, Fran Tarkenton, John Brodie and Sonny Jurgensen have passed for more yards.

Mike Garrett set a Charger record for most rushing attempts with 272 as he gained 1,031 yards to finish as the No. 5 rusher in the AFC. With 5,014 yards for his seven-year career, Garrett moved into the No. 17 position among all-time NFL rushers.

Cid Edwards was voted "Most Valuable Player" by his teammates. He finished 12th in the AFC in rushing with 679 yards and 10th in receiving with 40 catches for 557 yards.

Ashton Booklet Gets One Of Five Awards

"Year-Round School for Continuous Education", a booklet written by George Ashton, currently on a sabbatical leave from the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, was one of only five publications honored recently at the ninth annual School Publications Awards competition.

The booklet, according to Ashton, was written to satisfy the thousands of requests about year-round school operations at La Presa, Rancho, and Bancroft Elementary Schools and La Presa Junior High School.

Accepting the award for Ashton was John D. Todd, president of the La Mesa-Spring Valley board of education.

La Jolla Federal is through kidding around.

What kind of ad is this with a statement like that?

The kind that lays our cards right on the table.

Because if you're choosing a savings and loan, we think you'll want to know how the people there look at the business they're in.

Here's how we look at it:

What kind of free goodies are we giving away this year?

We're giving away exactly the same thing as last year.

No little goodies.

We respect your intelligence too much to expect you to open an account with us because we gave you a little potted palm, a bag of candy, a poster, and who-knows-what else.

In short, our attitude should disappoint no one but knick-knack collectors.

And no one ever earned interest on their knick-knacks.

Our cards. On the table.

Here's something we think you should know:

All federal savings and loan associations are pretty much the same. Does that surprise you?

It surprises a lot of people. We all pay the same interest on insured savings. And charge just about the same interest for a loan.

And free services? Does this list sound familiar? ...

Free copying service; free travelers' checks; free notary public; etc. etc.

That happens to be a list of some of ours.

Chances are, it's also a list of some of theirs.

So what is different about us?

We thought you'd never ask.

To you from us.

We'll give you absolutely free of charge an honest, no baloney attitude. In a nice way, of course.

We know you appreciate that, because a lot of you tell us so.

Better still, you become our customers. So many of you, we've grown from one office to three in less than a year.

And, too, we'll give you all the regular Savings and Loan things we discussed earlier.

When you get right down to it, we think you'll choose a savings and loan because you like the way the people there do business.

So if you like most of what we've just said, let's get together.

You won't be disappointed.

NEW ON STAFF — Merrill Weber, administrator of the Lemon Grove Medical Group, 3240 Main st., greets two new doctors who have joined the group recently. Center is Dr. Edward Schechter, an ophthalmologist, whose home is Columbus, Ohio, who became associated with the group in September. Ophthalmology is the science which treats the structure, functions, and diseases of the eye. Dr. Thomas Sheehan, a family practice physician, who came here in August, since has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, a national association of family doctors.

Jack Durham Named M.C. For Postmaster's Dinner

Jack Durham will be master of ceremonies at the retirement dinner for Lemon Grove Postmaster F. R. "Frenchy" Faucher on Sunday, January 14.

Durham, an old friend and a fellow Kiwanian of Faucher's, said that his part of the program would be "light and amusing."

Faucher is retiring after 23 years of service. His wife, Norma, who has worked alongside him as a clerk in the L.G. Post Office, is retiring at the same time.

Alternate Pump Plans Under Study

Several alternative means of adding capacity to the Vista Pump Plant near the end of Vista del Valle Road in south-east El Cajon Valley will be studied by the Helix Water District engineering staff following instructions from the District Board of Directors.

According to a staff recommendation, the existing underground pumps must be replaced and additional capacity built to handle the requirements of the immediate area.

Alternatives are to build an expensive underground facility, which would require an above-ground electrical transmission; submersible pumps, which are very expensive and must be replaced often; or an above-ground building, designed to be compatible with homes in the area.

Prison Term Faced By Burglar-Addict

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A 22-year old El Cajon man, involved in four burglaries in Lemon Grove with two Spring Valley juveniles, was sentenced last week to the Corona Rehab center for heroin addiction.

James Michael Hogarth was charged with burglaries at the homes of Eugene Beauchamp and Cloyd Coats, both of 7130 Waite dr.; Theresa Darrow, 7025 Waite dr.; Clarence Timm, 3390 Massachusetts, and John Novel, 3847 Costabella dr.

Hogarth fled the state a year ago and was picked up in Maryland on credit card charges. A 10-year sentence there was suspended in lieu of extradition. He pleaded guilty to an El Cajon burglary and the other charges, including check forgery, were dismissed. He has been in County Jail since Oct. 10.

A County psychiatrist found Hogarth to have a "drug dependence." After addiction treatment he will face as much as 15 year prison sentence.

Two Spring Valley juveniles, involved with Hogarth, have been handled in juvenile court.

MWD OK's Lease For Recreation At Lake Skinner Project

The Metropolitan Water District Board of Directors last week approved terms of a 30-year lease agreement with the County of Riverside for development and operation by its parks department of public recreation at the District's Lake Skinner in Auld Valley near Temecula.

Plans outlined to the MWD Board by Peter J. Dangermond, Jr., director of the parks department, call for an initial county investment of $1.8 million in facilities for boating, fishing, swimming, camping, picnicking, horseback riding and other activities.

The lease covers all MWD property upstream of the earthen dam which will form a lake with up to 1200 surface acres. The county will pay MWD a $10,000 annual fee under the lease for administrative and associated expenses involved in review of detailed plans for the recreation development and its operation.

The general agreement, which now must be approved by the Riverside County Board of Supervisors, enables the District to control reservoir operations in meeting water supply responsibilities. Recreation operations will dovetail with those requirements.

No recreation will be permitted until completion of construction and operation of the District's nearby Robert A. Skinner Filtration Plant, scheduled for late 1974 or early 1975.

Dangermond said studies by his department show that the main recreational development should be in the southeastern end of the two-mile-long lake. He said there is good rolling-hill access to the water in the area, plus a wealth of natural, historical and archaeological values to be enjoyed by visitors.

The department is also planning a wildlife preserve, with access to the water, on the northeastern shore area.

Plans also include a museum for exhibits of Indian artifacts and presentation of material on history of the valley.

The County Board of Supervisors has tentatively approved a financing plan for the recreation installation which includes grants being sought from both the state and federal governments.

USD Hoopsters Away For Turlock Tourney

Holiday contests provide the activity for the University of San Diego basketball squad this week as the Toreros seek to improve on their 43 win-loss mark.

USD journeys to the Turlock Tournament, Friday and Saturday. The four team affair also includes defending champion Western Washington, Stanislaus State and Occidental College.

Opening pairings list USD against Western Washington and Stanislaus State vs. Occidental. Western Washington edged the Toreros 68-67 on a tip-in with one second remaining in last year's first night action. USD then defeated Claremont to capture third place.

Conquistadors Give $1,000 Free Rides

$1,000 in free rides at Belmont Park in Mission Beach will be given to a lucky fan Saturday night at the Conquistador's basketball game against Utah in Peterson Gym.

In addition, four ride tickets will be given to each of the first 2,000 fans in the gym.

A mathematician figured that it would take almost two months of steady riding to use up the tickets.

Figuring tickets at 25 cents average, there would be 4,000 tickets. If it took five minutes to complete the ride — 20,000 minutes. If Belmont Park is open each day for six hours, or 360 minutes, it would take 55½ days — almost two months of steady riding.

That's fun!

Odds Bad For Drunk Driver

ship in the American Academy of Family Physicians, a national association of family doctors.

As a member of AAFP, Dr. Sheehan will be required to complete 150 hours of continuing medical study every three years. AAFP was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

Monarchs Second In Mat Tourney

After last week's El Cajon Invitational wrestling tournament, a few things have become clear.

Monte Vista has a long way to go to catch Orange Glen for the top team in the county distinction. And Mount Miguel has an even longer road to travel in its quest for a third straight CIF championship.

Monte Vista put four men in the championship finals and three grapplers in the consolation finals, picking up one individual title with Tom Broadwolf in the 127-pound class, three second place finishers, and three third places, enough for 97 points.

Orange Glen put six men in the championship finals and picked up two first places and 117 points, enough to win the tourney.

Mt. Miguel, traditionally show at the beginning of the season, is off to its slowest start in years with a third place finish with just 66 points, one point better than fourth place and host school El Cajon.

The Matadors had but two men in the championship finals and one winner in heavyweight Dan Allen. Two Miguel wrestlers made the consolation finals, both claiming third places.

Two Arrested In Cosmetics Theft Case

An 18-year old Lemon Grove man and a 17-year old companion were arrested last week and charged with grand theft in connection with stolen cosmetic products.

Reports from the Sheriff's Department indicated that a cosmetics saleslady contacted authorities after discovering the theft of substantial amount of her products.

She reported that she had recently moved from a residence on Central ave., and that when she did not receive orders via mail from her company, she discovered that the orders had been sent to her old address.

A check of the residence indicated that the items were not there.

An investigation by Sheriff's detectives led to the arrest of Michael D. Doherty, 18, of 7171 Central ave., and the juvenile, who allegedly took the material from the neighboring house after it arrived by mail.

Local Newscaster Wins Golden Mike

Joe McMahon, reporter for KGTV, won the 1972 Golden Mike Award for Best Investigative Reporting for Television, Division A.

The award was made at an annual awards dinner in Los Angeles for his work on "Border Pass".

The series was aired as part of ch. 10 Early News and concerned the alleged illegal dealings by U. S. Immigration Service officials at the San Ysidro border crossing.

McMahon contended that anyone could buy a border crossing card and use it to bring an illegal alien into the U. S. McMahon purchased such a card for $250 from a dealer operating out of a Tijuana hotel, and brought a woman through the station using the bogus card. A ch. 10 cameraman shot film footage of the entire procedure.

McMahon also reported that immigration officials, according to reliable information he possessed, were allegedly involved in drug traffic, and that city is $3,230. They averaged into those charges. He later reported on Federal Grand Jury indictment brought against two former San Ysidro Immigration Inspectors who allegedly permitted trucks driven by Mexican nationals to cross the check station carrying marijuana and cocaine.

McMahon is on 5 and 11 p.m. news Mondays through Fridays.

New Year's Eve Party Planned By LG VFW

The annual New Year's Eve party and buffet of the Lemon Grove VFW will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2082, 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove, December 31, at 8 p.m.

Commander Tony Subilosky promised an excellent buffet, and a lively band to dance to. Reservations are a must for members and guests. Buffet will be at 10:30 p.m.

Tell Junior The Facts Of Christmas Bicycle Life

The local accident reduction team assumes that many youngsters are now riding their very own first bicycle.

It's an exciting time. Too exciting to take instruction on traffic rules. By now the excitement has died a little. It may not be too late to sit the little cyclist down and tell him what you know about bicycle safety. And if you have forgotten the rules, this material, supplied by CHP, will refresh your memory.

So you gave your youngster a bicycle for Christmas.

Fine. What did you say about the hazards that came with the gift?

If you are like most parents you told him to "be careful."

Period! Now the kid has the wings of a bird. Free to flee to the limits of his endurance.

He is a smart youngster. He remembers what you told him about walking. The school teacher told him the same thing.

Beef Curry

Beef curry served with coconut rice and chutney will bring compliments to the hostess. California Beef Council home economists suggest making it with tender beef or for smaller budgets use stewing beef and simmer 1½ to 2 hours and then proceed with the recipe.

GUESTS — Among a group of approximately 100 persons attending a luncheon marking the opening of the Westlands Bank in San Diego was this group. Standing: Charles B. Catalano, Jr., vice president and marketing director of the bank; Max Goodwin, editor-publisher of Lemon Grove; U.S. Representative Lionel Van Deerlin, and former Mayor of San Diego, Frank Curran. The new bank will be at Columbia and Ash.

Cinema Series To Be Offered

A special "Scandinavian Cinema" film series will open at 8 p.m. January 3 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall at Grossmont College when "Dear John" is screened. Presented by the college's Office of Community Services, "Scandinavian Cinema" is an attempt to "remind the audience that there are other Swedish directors besides Bergman and countries other than Sweden."

"Dear John" is a lyrical love story of two venerable people. A divorced sea captain and an unwed mother. Highly skeptical of the opposite sex, they meet and cautiously begin a romance.

The public is invited. Admission to the entire series is $2 or a single program admission is 75 cents with tickets available at the door on the night of each performance.

PTA HILITES

"Melting Pot" was the theme of this year's PTA-sponsored Christmas program presented by fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students at San Altos Elementary School.

Along with traditional Christmas songs, the students performed a Japanese carol and a Christmas song sung in Spanish. One of the highlights of the program was an Afro American Santa Claus, who was a favorite among youngsters in the audience.

The next meeting of the PTA will be January 11 when Dr. Douglas Giles will present a program entitled "Innovative Action". Free babysitting will be provided.

Bicycle Safety Class Scheduled

Another bicycle class — the second of a series — sponsored by the California Highway Patrol, will be held Saturday, January 6, at Mt. Miguel High School at 9 a.m.

The class is conducted by a CHP officer and has to do with bicycle safety and traffic laws. A pass-fail test will be given at the finish.

The class is open to both parents and young cyclists. It is also prescribed training for youngsters who have broken bicycle laws and have been sentenced by the CHP Bicycle Court to the additional training in safety rules.

There is no charge for attending the class. CHP Officer Fred Blundell will be instructor.

Routine Search Brings Marijuana Arrest Here

A Lemon Grove man was arrested last week on possession of marijuana charges after a deputy found him lying under a boat at his home.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, a deputy was summoned to the scene, where the suspect's mother had indicated that she had accidentally locked herself out of the house.

Upon arrival at the scene, the deputy found the suspect, William M. Monahan, 18, who was lying on the ground beneath a boat. It was subsequently determined that the suspect was intoxicated and he was arrested.

During a routine weapons search, a matchbox containing marijuana was found.

Two Services On Tap At Foothills Church

Santa Ana Firm Plans Bank Expansion in S.D.

A group of community leaders, including Mayor Pete Wilson, Past Mayor Frank Curran, Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin, and a host of finance executives, attended an "announcement" luncheon recently as guests of the Westlands Bank of Santa Ana.

Westlands, a state bank, has grown forty times its original totals in its first two years of service, according to Russ M. Vorwerk, president. The first step in an expansion program in San Diego, he said, where an office is being readied at the corner of Ash and Columbia streets.

Prospectus had been sent to many of the guests making available a new stock offering.

The new facility is being redesigned and refurbished to include all the usual banking services plus computerized business services.

Westlands has long range expansion plans which include future geographical locations in key areas throughout California, said Charles B. Catalano, Jr., vice president and marketing director of Westlands.

Robert K. Ruegsegger, has been named manager of the local facility. He said the bank would provide same day services on all banking transactions reaching the bank by 11 p.m.

He said this service is vitally important in real estate transactions.

CIA sports department could not be reached for comment. But to give force to the negotiating team which some say did not exist, the President's office leaked the name of John Mitchell. What was his power? He was breaking-in his successor, Richard Kleindienst and the tie still existed with all that awesome legal force that the U.S. Attorney General could command.

It had been shown that a man's reputation may suffer when he doesn't defend his legitimate activities against slimy allegations of irresponsible reporters. The thing to do? Concede.

It looked to Bavasi as though the jig was up for the Padres. It looked that way to Jack Murphy, dean of sports columnists in a Sunday morning Union think-piece. It looked that way to Mayor Pete Wilson, and to the Padre staff.

But hold! Something had gone wrong in Vietnam. Henry Kissinger, the President's foreign policy coach had grabbed the wrong play book. "Peace at hand" didn't intend to let Le Duc Tho hit the scoreboard. But that's what happened!

To prove that our free, democratic form of government isn't cumbersome, President Nixon immediately called off the "franchise for Washington" ploy. It took a few days for the order to become effective because he couldn't find out who headed CIA. Finally, with a verbal two-year contract as enticement, FBI's new chieftain Pat Gray, infiltrated CIA and got word to their manager that peace had failed and the President wanted the heat off the Padres.

Emboldened by the presidential reins on CIA, the Pentagon privately declared air war on North VietNam and using a CIA playbook, promptly shot down four of its own multi-million dollar B-52s.

Presidential popularity, at its peak in November, was sagging fast. This called for stern measures.

The President informed Mr. Bavasi that the CIA had been ordered off the project; that Mr. Mitchell had been recalled, and that "Washington interests" had been ordered to shut down negotiations.

He asked Buzzie to make the announcement prior to Christmas so that his "home county" would not face the holidays in a fit of despondency.

As a sop to the Republican organization he ordered some $35,000 previously contributed to his campaign, returned to them.

And to appease the horde of fans around the capital who would be disappointed by not having a home baseball team to read about, even though they would not attend the park in horde-like numbers, the President asked National Football League president Pete Rozelle to lift the Green Bay Packers-Washington Redskins television blackout around Washington Saturday. Rozelle refused. No arbitration, no negotiation. Just a flat-out no.

Those whose imagination was frothy enough to stay this far, have found a somewhat imaginative exposition of details behind the Padres recent negotiations.

Also revealed by the same logic, are two of the world's most powerful figures: Le Duc Tho and Pete Rozelle.

And perhaps the most generous figure: Arnholt Smith, who turned down a two million dollar profit; took back an annual loss of some $700,000, and another year of listening to "new ways the Padres found to lose."
